

The Will of Allah and Our Destiny

Part I: An Overview of the Beliefs of Muslim Schools

Vahid Majd

Associate Professor of Tarbiat Modares University

Abstract: In the series of these articles, we will discuss the issue of free will and fatalism in the view of Muslim schools. The rational arguments and the supportive narrations from the holy Quran and the traditions reported by different groups will be provided. In the first part, which is presented here, we provide an overview of the issue, the historical and traditional backgrounds that gave birth to various issues concerning this subject.

Key words: Bakri, Jabriyyah, Taqdir, Fatalism

Introduction

Since the early period of Islam, there have been three schools of thought regarding the issue of determinism vs. free will. A main group, namely Jabriyyah, believe in compulsion (Jabr) on the actions of human being. A second group, called

Mufawwi

ah
, believe in independence (Tafwidh) of human will, and that Allah has no planning for the voluntary actions of human beings. The first two groups comprise the schools of creed for the Bakri's.

[\[i\]](#)
Most of the Bakri's

do not find it in accordance with their interest.

The third group, namely the Shiā or the followers of Ahl al-Bayt [\[ii\]](#) (PBUT) [\[iii\]](#), reject both Jabr and Tafwidh in human actions and believe that man is free in his action but his decision and action requires Allah's permission.

In this part, we will first look into the historical background of this issue. Then, we will examine the claims and the evidence of the various schools as well as the consequences of their beliefs.

The beliefs

The provide more detailed explanations, the school of compulsion as the mainstream of Bakri's claims that since Allah mentions in many verses of the Quran that everything happens according to His will, it follows that man's actions are in reality those of Allah. In the view of this school, the human being has no real choice because Allah has already decreed his actions as well as his fate. In this point of view, the will of Allah becomes the cause for all actions in the world.

On the other hand, the school of "independent freedom of will" states that man has been left independent in the domain of his volition and Allah has relinquished His authority over man's voluntary actions. In other words, Allah has no engineering or planning (Taqrir) on the inter-related actions of people and the effects of their actions in the universe. They believe He has resigned and left the planning of people's voluntary actions to themselves.

In contradistinction to the prior two, the school of Ahl al-Bayt (PBUT) maintains that although the will of Allah encompasses all man's voluntary actions, it is not a compulsory will and is not the cause of man's choice of actions. Man is completely free in his domain of volition, but he chooses what Allah knew of his action and permitted to happen in His will. However, the foreknowledge and will of Allah is not the cause, it is rather His planning for what He allowed to happen in His kingdom. They say that man's will is not against the will and knowledge of Allah, and the effect of man's action on the universe is based on the planning of Allah and his decree. Therefore, this position lies between those of the other two schools.

Historical Backgrounds

Although the idea of compulsion had roots before the advent of Islam, it was promoted by some rulers after the demise of the Prophet (PBUH&HF) especially by the Umayyad dynasty, and history has recorded many of such indications. For instance, during the reign of Uthmān

[\[iv\]](#)

, when the revolted charged him of nepotism and mismanagement of the affairs and pressed him to resign from the Caliphate, he said, “

I will not take off the dress of Caliphate that Allah has put on me.

[\[v\]](#)

By this statement, Uthmān was trying to attribute the action of few people who assigned him to rule, as Allah's action, and convince people that his assignment was a compulsory will of Allah, and thus, people should remain loyal to his rule. This way, Uthmān attributed to Allah the Caliphate that reached him due to Abdurrahmān Ibn al-Awaf's vote for him on the Day of Consultation (

After Mu'awiyah succeeded in his coup against Imam Hasan (PBUH) and became the ruler of the Muslim community, he made his first speech in Medina saying, “

Action and effort does not have any benefit since all matters are in the hand of Allah.

[\[vii\]](#)

In another instance, he said, “

After choosing his drunkard son, Yaz

d, as his successor, Muḥaw

yah said, “

This (Caliphate of ours) is the imposed decree of Allah and no one has any choice over Allah's decree.

d as his successor and told him, “

You have come to power because of (the status of) my father.

” Muḥaw

i

yah replied, “

This is the kingdom that Allah has granted us.

When Yazid came to power, he sent a letter to the governor of Medina and ordered him to get the oath of allegiance from Imam al-ḥusayn [\[xi\]](#) (PBUH). Here is the opening of his letter: “ Certainly, Muḥawiyah

Ibn Abi Sufyān was a servant among the servants of Allah, whom Allah favored him, granted him the Caliphate, vested him with the authority, and firmly established his kingdom in the states. This was of the decree of Allah that was preceded the first and the last generations from which no close angel and no sent Prophet turned away. And now Allah has invested us with the rule that was with him...

replied, “

” Ibn Z

” The Imam

(PBUH)

kept silent. Ibn Z

yād continued, “

What is the matter with you that you do not answer?

” Thereupon, the Imam

(PBUH)

replied by the following two verses from Quran:

ﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ
ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ ﻭﻟﻪ ﻣﺎ ﻟﻪ

“Allah takes the souls (of people) at the time of their death, (39:42) and Nor is for any soul to die except by Allah’s leave.” (3:145)

Upon hearing the reply, Ibn Ziyād became furious and ordered to kill the Imam (PBUH), but Lady Zainab

(PBUH)

(his paternal aunt) intervened...

[\[xiv\]](#)

By the above verses, the Imam (PBUH) meant that although the martyrdom of Imam ʿusayn (PBUH) was allowed to happen and was made possible by Allah to take place, the action of murdering him by his killers cannot be attributed to Allah. This wrongful action although was in the will of Allah, but it did not please Him and was against His command.

The emergence of the school of compulsion and the support it received from Muslim rulers led to people's disgust with it. This gave rise to the other extreme, namely the school of independent freedom of will, which claimed that Allah does not will the voluntary actions of human being. Although Maʾmūn, the shrewd Abbasid Caliph, advanced this alternative ideological movement for a short period in order to gain people's support, this school retained a minority of adherents throughout the history of Islam. As we will show later, the dangers of the heretical beliefs of the school of independent freedom of will are no less harmful than those of the school of compulsion.

The Opinions of Bakri Scholars

Let us now see how some eminent Bakri scholars have taken sides on this issue when presenting their creed. The first one that we will quote is Abul-ʿasan al-Ashʿar

i
(d. 324) who is one of the leading Bakr

i
theologians and founder of the Ashʿar

i
school of creed. He writes in his creed:

The Will of Allah and Our Destiny

Written by Vahid Majd

“Surely everything exists by the will of Allah, the mighty and the majestic, and no one is able to commit something before Allah commits it... They (i.e., the Mu’tazilah who believed in the independent freedom of will) think disbelief is not committed except by a disbeliever... When Allah enabled them to disbelieve, He was able to create disbelief for them, and if Allah plans disbelief for His creation, why do you think creating their disbelief (by Allah) is contradictory and invalid? This is while Allah, the Glorious said, ‘He does what He intends’ . Thus, since disbelief was of His intention He was indeed the One who committed it, planned it, and averted His Grace from them...

The Qadariyyah think we deserve the title of Qadar since we say Allah has apportioned the evil (Sharr) and disbelief (Kufr). This is while a Qadar i is he who establishes apportionment (Qadar) for himself instead of Allah, and thinks that he plans his actions instead of His creator. Thus, since you (Mu’taz i lah) think you plan your deeds and you commit them instead of Allah (committing them), you are the real Qadar i yyah (that are denounced in the prophetic traditions). We are not the Qadar i yyah since we do not attach the deeds to our souls instead of to Allah, the mighty and the majestic...

Allah’s intention cannot be a novel and a created thing, because a person who does not intend and then starts to intend, would have a deficiency... And if one asks about the saying of Allah, ‘ And We did not create the Jinn and the human except that they may worship Me,’ (51:56) the answer is that by this verse, Allah meant the believers, not the disbelievers, because Allah has informed us that He has made Hell for many of His creation. Therefore, those whom He created for Hell are other than those whom He created for worshipping Him...

“And that His intention (Irādah) is of His Essence (Dhāt), among His attributes. He has eternally been attributed by it. He intended, in His Eternity, the existence of things at their destined moments. Thus, they came to existence at their proper times as He intended in His eternity without any advance or delay. They happened according to His knowledge and His intention, without any substitution or change...”

“His intention was eternal, and in eternity it was attached to the events in their proper times in conformity with His eternal knowledge... The first principle is to know that any event in the world is His action

, His creation, His innovation, and that there is neither any creator nor any causer other than Him. He created the creation and generated their power and their movements.

Thus, all the actions of His servants are His creation and His invention... Had Allah disliked the sins and the crimes and had He not intended them, then they would have been based on the intention of His enemy, Satan, the accursed. In that case, most of what happens would have been according to the intention of His enemy... This is the utmost weakness and helplessness, and the Lord of lords is most exalted from such a saying by the wrongdoers... It is permissible that Allah, the exalted, charges and burdens the creation with that which they cannot bear... It is for Allah, the exalted, to torture and to punish the creation even if they have not committed any crime.”

[\[xix\]](#)

It is unanimous among the Bakri scholars that the will of Allah is eternal and that Allah never makes changes in His will. Some of them also clearly expressed that any event, including the evil deeds of people, is the action of Allah, and that had He disliked its happening, He would not have let it take place.

Some Bakri Traditions in Support of Fatalism

Without doubt, the opinion of the Bakri scholars on this issue has roots in the Bakri Hadith collections. Here, it would suffice to quote the following few examples from the most revered Bakr
i
collections of narrative traditions:

Written by Vahid Majd
Saturday, 08 October 2016 00:18 -

Saturday, 08 October 2016 00:18 -

Narrated Abu Hurayrah: The Prophet said, “Adam and Moses argued with each other. Moses said to Adam. ‘O Adam! You are our father who disappointed us and turned us out of Paradise.’ Then Adam said to him, ‘O Moses! Allah favored you with His talk (talked to you directly) and He wrote (the Torah) for you with His Own Hand. Do you blame me for an action which Allah had written in my fate forty years before my creation?’ So Adam confuted Moses, Adam confuted Moses,” the Prophet added, repeating the statement three times.

ā version does not share the above implication in any way. While acknowledging that his action had been written according to Allah's foreknowledge, it notes that his excuse was that Satan had sworn in the name of Allah that He was advising them sincerely. Prophet Adam (PBUH), until then, had no experience with someone who would allow himself to swear falsely by Allah. The Quran corroborates this:

And he (i.e., the Satan) swore to them both, that he was their sincere adviser. (7:21) may easily introduce heretical beliefs, which may ridicule and destroy the faith among populace.

In another Bakri tradition, it is reported:

Hudhayfah ibn Usayd reported directly from Allah’s Messenger (may peace be upon him) that he said, “When the drop of (semen) remains in the womb for forty or forty five nights, the angel comes and says, ‘My Lord, will he be good or evil?’ And both these things are written. Then the angel says, ‘My Lord, would he be male or female?’ And both of these things are written. His deeds and actions, his death, his livelihood—these are also recorded. Then his document of destiny is rolled and there is no addition to and subtraction from it.”

[xxii]

The major problem with the above Hadith is in the last sentence where it is alleged that the “pen” has dried up from writing. This would leave no possibility of Allah changing our destiny. This way, good effort, supplication to Allah, trying to seek His pleasure, etc., would all be in vain. Again, there exists a Shiā version of this Hadith, which does have such a connotation. The Shiā version rather expresses that Allah makes a stipulation in that record that He may later change what He had written for His servant.

[xxiii]

According to the following Bakri traditions, Allah will never change what we are going to confront, no matter what we try to do:

...

Narrated Abu Hurayrah: I said, “O Allah’s Messenger! I am a young man and I am afraid that I may commit illegal sexual intercourse and I cannot afford to marry.” He kept silent. Then I repeated my question once again, but he kept silent. I said the same (for the third time) and he remained silent. Then I repeated my question (for the fourth time), and only then, the Prophet said, “O Abu Hurayrah! The pen has dried after writing what you are going to confront. So (it does not matter whether you) get yourself castrated or not.” [xxiv]

000000 00000 .00000 000000 00000 00000 0000 0000 !00000 00000 00 :000 00000 00 00000 00 000000 0000 00 0000 00000 00 .00” 0000 000000000 00000 00 00000000000 00 00000 000000000 00 0000 0000000 00000000
00 00000 00000000 0000 00000 00 :00000 0000 00000000 00000 :0000 “0000000000 00 00000 000000000
“00000 0000 00000000” 000000 00000 00 :0000000 .0000000

There is no dispute in the genuineness of the last sentence of the above Hadith, that is, “Act, for everyone is given facilities”. What the Prophet (PBUH&HF) meant by this sentence is that everyone who has been charged with religious duties (Mukallaf) has already been given the faculties by which he can perform his duties. In other words, everyone can worship Allah and submit to His command voluntarily to the extent of his ability, as everyone has been created for worship and submission to Him. This sentence of the Prophet

(PBUH&HF)

was also widely narrated by the Sh

i

ā traditionists and was explained by the Imams

(PBUT)

in detail.

[\[xxvi\]](#)

However, the first part of the Bakr

i

version of the Hadith quoted above is not at all compatible with its last part. Moreover, in explaining the above common sentence, the Bakr

i

's allege that the Prophet

(PBUH&HF)

said:

“Act, for everyone is provided with facilities so that whoever belongs to the blessed ones is given facilities to perform the acts of the blessed people and whoever belongs to the unfortunate ones is given facilities to perform the acts of the unfortunate people.”

[\[xxvii\]](#)

As we have quoted earlier, some famous Bakri scholars expressed their belief that not all people were created for worshipping Allah and for doing good deeds. They claimed that some people were created only for Hell and some only for Paradise. According to them, it is made easy for those who were created for Hell to perform bad deeds and is made easy for those who were created for Paradise to perform good deeds. In later parts, we will examine the explanation given by the Imams (PBUT)

regarding the authentic saying of the Prophet Muhammad in this regard.

It is notably different from that of the Bakr

i narration.

Finally, in another Bakri Hadith, it is mentioned that:

«««««««« ««« ««« «««« «« ««« «««««« ««

Ibn ʿAbbās narrated: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said, “The pen dried up having written down all that will happen until the Day of Judgment

[\[xxviii\]](#)

Drying up the “divine pen” that has written the future means that all the future events including our destiny are fixed and that Allah will never change them based on this alleged Hadith.

Some Verses of the Quran on the Will of Allah

In addition to the traditions, the supporters of the school of compulsion have used many verses of the Quran to strengthen their views. The fact that everything, including our voluntary actions, happens according to the will of Allah has been clearly mentioned in many verses of the Quran. For instance:

«««««««««««««« «««« «««««««« «««««« ««« «««««« «««««««« «« ««

And ye shall not will unless Allah wills, the Lord of the worlds. (81:29)

«««««««««« «««««««« «««««« «««««« «««« «««« «««««««««

Those against whom the word of your Lord has been verified will not believe, even if every sign was brought unto them, until they see (for themselves) the painful punishment. (10:96-97)

وَمَا كُنَّا بِمُشْرِكِينَ بِاللَّهِ مِن قَبْلَ ۚ إِن نَّبْغِثُكَ عَنِ الْمُلْكِ الْمُبِينِ

If Allah willed, they would not have been polytheists. (6:107)

وَمَا كُنَّا بِمُشْرِكِينَ بِاللَّهِ مِن قَبْلَ ۚ إِن نَّبْغِثُكَ عَنِ الْمُلْكِ الْمُبِينِ

If Allah had (so) willed, they would not have fought each other. (2:253)

وَمَا كُنَّا بِمُشْرِكِينَ بِاللَّهِ مِن قَبْلَ ۚ إِن نَّبْغِثُكَ عَنِ الْمُلْكِ الْمُبِينِ

If Allah (so) willed, He would certainly make you all one people. But He misguides whom He wills, and He guides whom He wills; and you will certainly be called to account for all your actions. (16:93)

وَمَا كُنَّا بِمُشْرِكِينَ بِاللَّهِ مِن قَبْلَ ۚ إِن نَّبْغِثُكَ عَنِ الْمُلْكِ الْمُبِينِ

Say, "I do not possess any benefit or harm for myself except what Allah willed." (7:188)

وَمَا كُنَّا بِمُشْرِكِينَ بِاللَّهِ مِن قَبْلَ ۚ إِن نَّبْغِثُكَ عَنِ الْمُلْكِ الْمُبِينِ

Nay, this surely is a reminder. Let any who will, take heed! But none will heed unless Allah wills. He is the Lord of Righteousness, and the Lord of Forgiveness. (74:54-56)

وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ

This is an admonition. Thus, whosoever wills, let him take a (straight) path to his Lord. But ye shall not will unless Allah wills, for Allah is the ever Knower and Wise. He will admit to His Mercy whom He wills; but for the unjust, He has prepared a painful chastisement. (76:29-31)

وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ
وَمَا يَكْفُرُ لَكُمْ وَالَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا مِنْكُمْ فِي شَيْءٍ مِنْ ذَلِكَ وَلَئِنْ سَأَلْتُمْ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ لَوَسَّاسٌ عُتْبِيٌّ

Nor say about anything, “I shall surely do that tomorrow” (unless you say) “except if Allah wills (otherwise).” (18:23-24)

In translating the verses of the Quran concerning this issue, the Bakri’s often translate “He wills” as “He pleases”. As quoted earlier, some of the leading Bakr

i scholars expressed their belief that the will of Allah is equivalent to His pleasure and consent. The majority of the Bakr

i
’s maintain that Allah’s will is eternal, i.e., His will is His Essence, and thus there is no change in His will because there is no change in the Essence of Allah. Thus, Allah’s will is irrevocable even by Himself.

By utilizing such verses of the Quran, the school of compulsion attempted to establish that if tyrants do wrong it is because of Allah’s will, and therefore, they have to be tyrannical. Recall the example of a murderer given by al-Ash‘ari which was quoted before. They asserted that the will of Allah is the cause for people’s actions, and that people’s actions are of Allah’s actions in reality. They adopted this doctrine since they wanted to justify the injustice of the tyrannical rulers. As the Ahl al-Bayt (PBUT) pointed out to (be discussed in later parts), if such an idea were to be true, then tyrants would be rewarded on the Day of Judgment even more than the righteous. This is because they were forced to play the role of a bad person in this world and they perfectly performed their assigned task in doing what is disdainful and evil.

The school of Ahl al-Bayt (PBUT) does not overlook the above-mentioned verses regarding the will of Allah.

However, the Imams (PBUT) emphasized that while everything, even our voluntary action, does indeed take place according to the will of Allah and His intention,

His will on our voluntary actions is not a compulsory or a necessitated will, nor is it the cause for our choice of actions.

Therefore, our choice of a wrong action cannot be attributed to Allah. Moreover, according to Ahl al-Bayt

(PBUT)

, Allah's will is His creation

, not His Essence, and therefore, it is not eternal. Thus, He may make changes in it as He chooses. In the view of the Sh

i
ā, the meaning of the "will of Allah" in our voluntary actions is different from what the Bakr

i
's uphold. The Sh

i
ā bind themselves to the guidance of Ahl al-Bayt

(PBUT)

for understanding each and every religious concept, and seek their interpretation for understanding the verses of the Quran. The Sh

i
ā believe that the Ahl al-Bayt

(PBUT)

are the only individuals who are authorized by Allah to interpret the verses of the Quran. This is due to the sayings of Allah in the Quran and those traditions of the Prophet whose authenticity is agreed upon by all Muslims.

(PBUH&HF)

Conclusion

The complexity of the issue of the will of Allah vs. our will has confused many intellectuals and ordinary people alike. Understanding this difficult subject is a key point to correctly analyze many controversial issues between the school of Ahl al-Bayt (PBUT) and other deviants.

In this part, we provided an overview and historical background of the issue. Below are some of the questions to that will be dealt in future parts by will of Allah:

The Will of Allah and Our Destiny

Written by Vahid Majd

Saturday, 08 October 2016 00:18 -

1- What is the meaning of the will of Allah, His intention, and His planning about our actions? Is the concept of voluntary actions relevant in light of these concepts?

2- Is the will of Allah the cause for our actions? Is the will of Allah in our voluntary actions an imposed will?

3- Are our actions Allah's actions?

4- Does the will of Allah always accord with His pleasure and His command?

5- Is it possible that Allah changes His will? Is His will eternal?

6- Is there any possibility that Allah changes our written destiny?

7- Does Allah create evil?

8- What are the meanings of guiding and the misguiding attributed to Allah in the Quran? What is our role and what is Allah's role on our guidance? What are the meaning and the effects of "the seal on the heart"?

Understanding this issue has great impact on the approach of individuals towards the religious commandments and their prosperity in the hereafter.

Misunderstanding this crucial issue may endanger ones faith and leave one outside the boundary of monotheism. Therefore, the details of this issue should be given great attention.

[i] The group of Bakri's, named after Abu Bakr, are the greater population of Muslims who deviated from teachings and commandments of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH&HF)

after his martyrdom concerning submission to his divinely appointed successor, namely, the Commander of Believers, Ali Ibn Abi

Talib (PBUH). They instead believe that Abu Bakr was his successor who was, in reality, nominated and usurped power by some influential people. Bakri
